FRIDAY, FEB. 5, 1886.

LOCAL ITEMS.

Daily Globe, Mail, News and Witness for sale at THE TRIBUNE OFFICE.

OPERATIONS continue quite brisk in the sash factory, orders coming in steadily from all directions.

A little fellow, son of Mr. Edward Bruyke, knew his arm the other day while skating
on the board-walk.

REV. G. A. ANDERSON, of Tyndensing, and Rev. A. L. Green, of Belleville, assisted at the evening service at Mackie's on Sunday, the latter preaching on the occasion.

Mrs. Finlayson, of this town, has completed an "Ocean Wave" crazy quilt in the construction of which no less than 150 pieces were employed. It is a pretty specimen of neat needlework.

On Sunday afternoon thieves stole from
Mr. Jas. Phillips, of the 9th con. of their low, two barrels of honey, 140 pounds each,
and a buffalo robe. Myron Jones and Geo.
Belleville were arrested and brought to Deseronto.

THE Library of the Mechanics' Institute
was thrown open for the first time last Saturday evening. There was a great rush of members to take advantage of the splendid supply of good books. The library will be open until further orders on Tuesday and Saturday evenings from 7 to 9 and on Thursday afternoon from 4 to 6 o'clock.

The young ladies and gentlemen of the Methodist Church have made arrangements
for a first-class entertainment next Wednesday evening. They now feel confident of a larger crowd and a better programme than the old folks presented. If you desire to get standing room go early. Proceedings will commence at 7:30 o'clock.

"OLD CARLO" a well-known athlete of the Bay District, breathed his last on Monday afternoon. The numerous expressions of sympathy and the dejected faces of the staff
showed that all regretted the loss of the old canine friend had been curtailed.
Chick and other friends carried him to his last resting place kindly provided by the Board of Health.

With the session of the Local Legislature
and the near approach of the meeting of the Dominion Parliament comes the usual demand for the daily paper. Members of the Mechanics' Institute enjoy this luxury in a nice comfortable room. Parties can get the daily papers at THE TRIBUNE office. The coming session of the Dominion Parliament
is expected to be of all absorbing interest.

LOCAL TRAIN.—For the benefit of the Travelling Public and to afford accommodation to the people of Deseronto a mixed train leaves the R. R. Depot every morning at 7:45 for Kingston. Parties can go to Kingston or Napanee and back same day
having about eight hours in Napanee and four in Kingston. Low rates of Fare, Kingston and return, $2.20. Napanee and return 50 cents.

The entertainment held in the Presbyterian Church last Friday evening under the auspices of the Kirk-session proved a complete success. The programme included music and instrumental solos by several members of the congregation, excellent selections by the choir with readings and addresses by the members of session. Refreshments were served during the evening. Such reunions cannot but prove beneficial.

A MEETING of the Board of Health was held on Monday evening. Dr. Clinton was elected Chairman for the current year, Mr.
R. N. Irvine being Secretary ex-officio.
The medical men presented reports of their work, and gave in to the board a list of those persons who had refused to be vaccinated. It was resolved to send in the names of these persons to the Council, and the Clerk was instructed to make the requisition for the necessary amounts to cover expenses of vaccination.

A SOCIAL party of an exceedingly pleasant character was held on Thursday evening last week at the residence of Mr.
John Marrigan, N. Green-street. There were about fifty persons present, and the causation, Supper was served in excellent style by Mrs. and Miss Marrigan. An entirely new time was spent in tripping the
"light fantastic" and other amusements.
It was far on in the evening when the company returned to their homes, all being pleased with the evening's entertainment and
the hospitality which had been so liberally extended.

Rev. Dr. Breddin, President of the Bay of Quinte Conference, preached a most interesting sermon at the evening service. We gave him a hearty welcome to our town. We
gave him a hearty welcome to our town. We gave him a hearty welcome to our town.

At the evening service of the Methodist Church last Sunday morning he also presented the claims of the Educational Fund of the Church to the attention of the congregation. The venerable President made a very favourable impression on his hearers by the clearness of his addresses. We learn that Dr. Breddin is 67 years of age, has been in the active work of the ministry 44 years, and that during all
that time he has never missed one week
from duty. A grand record.

dent of Deseronto, was this week sent to the Kingston General Hospital.

of January with Mr. R. N. Irvine, Registrar.—Births, 5; Marriages, 1; Deaths, 1.
WHAT penalties will be inflicted on those who refuse to comply with the regulations of the Board of Health with reference to vaccination?

In order to increase the circulation of
THE TRIBUNE we will send it to new subscribers for the balance of 1886 for 75 cts,
paid strictly in advance.

The trustees of the Bridge-street Church,
Belleville, have decided to build a stone
church on the old site, work to be commenced in the spring.

MR. GEORGE CARTER leaves for the west
some time this month to start business for himself. His many Deseronto friends will wish him all success.

SEVERAL horses have got through the ice
while crossing up at the ferry during the past week. The intense frost of the past few days has somewhat strengthened it.

The vaccine virus has been put in its work this week with more than ordinary effect. Many residents have been temporarily disabled and compelled to suspend duties.

CAPT. FRANK MCMASTER has been offered
the choice of three vessels during the coming season. The Captain is well-known as one of the most skillful navigators of lake Ontario.

We hope that every resident is still using all vigilance to prevent the introduction of small-pox. It is only by exercising every precaution the dread disease can be held at a distance.

We are requested to announce that the usual church services on the Mohawk Reserve will be resumed on Sunday next the 7th inst. The Holy Communion will be celebrated at the Parish Christ Church.

THERE have been no more cases of small-pox at Eagle Hill and the medical men now
consider that the disease has run its course.
The premises will be thoroughly disinfected
and the guards dismissed about the end of next week.

MR. WILLIAMS' new drug store is opened for business. He has a complete stock of patent medicines, drugs, chemicals and other articles such as are usually found in such an establishment. He solicits a fair share of public patronage.

THE play of Grimaldi was presented to the public of Deseronto on Wednesday evening by the Amateur Dramatic Association of that town. The principal parts were taken by Messrs. Madden and Robertson and the whole proved a grand success.

THERE was an exciting fracas the other evening in which an inoffensive stranger received a black eye of unusual dimensions.
A revolver was drawn and matters looked serious for some time. The Chief finally calmed the belligerents and hostilities ceased.

OUR enterprising townsman, Mr. Marshall Woodcock, is building a new shop
in order to meet the requirements of his increasing business. It is east of the presents at present, and will be on east Main-street. He intends to make it a commodious and attractive looking structure.

MESSRS. RICHARDSON and Paquet, of the Gilmour Company, have a room in town on Wednesday on business. They inspect of the Cedar Mill, Sash Factory and other premises of the Rathbun Company. It is said the Messrs. Gilmour intend adding some more departments to their Trenton business.

THE town hall has been painted and renovated internally, the work being creditably
performed by Mr. W. B. Graham. A coal store has been placed in the corridor adjoining the police cells. The audience at the next meeting of the council or division
court will imagine themselves in marble halls.

THE Ketchikan Popular Convention and Concert Company, of Chicago, gave one of their entertaining programmes on last Wednesday evening. It proved a rich musical feast, the various members of the company exhibiting fine vocal powers. All their selections were much appreciated by the audience. A convention has been formed and instruction is given to classes three times a day. Another concert will be given next Tuesday evening in the White Church.
There will no doubt be a large assembly on that occasion.

WE rely on the assistance of every reader to aid in increasing the circulation of THE TRIBUNE. Many of them have already placed us under obligations in that respect.
We are sensible of many shortcomings but
all will admit that we have earnestly endeavored to make THE TRIBUNE worthy of our enterprising village. To a greater extent than is the case with other journals
THE TRIBUNE depends on the cordial support of the people to carry on its work. We should like to find its way into every house and to have every resident of Deseronto on our list of subscribers. The local paper now-a-days claims that as a right, and we confidently hope that in this matter we will not be disappointed. Friends at a distance are asked to send their correspondences, now acknowledge that for news of old Tyndensing and district they must go to THE TRIBUNE. No more to be said. Let be sent to absent friends than a copy of your local paper.

A FISH line of cheap note paper and envelopes at THE TRIBUNE OFFICE.

THE Hungerford Council have decided to submit a by-law to the ratepayers in that township granting $25,000 bonus to aid the extension of the N. T. & Q. Ry. to Tweed.

LARGE quantities of wheat and hay continued to be brought to this market. Many farmers have come from near Tweed and Thomashurst and even from as far south as Bath. This speaks favorably for the reputation of Deseronto as a growing market town.

MR. Wm. EVANS has commenced the construction in the shipyard of a combination baggage express and postal car for the N. T.
& Q. Railway. One of the coaches of that line has been sent to Colborne Car Works for a thorough overhauling and painting, rendered necessary by their improper
construction and finish in the Kingston Car Works.

MR. M. J. BUTLER, C. E., and staff have completed a preliminary survey of the proposed railway from Tamworth to Tweed.
The most expensive engineering difficulties
to be encountered are near the extreme ends of the line, that is at Tamworth and Tweed. If this line be adopted it will be necessary to construct three bridges over the Moira river. They would necessarily involve a large expenditure.

JUST as we were going to press a fire broke out in Caleb Goodmurry's boot and shoe store. The flames made rapid headway
and it was some time before the building was doomed. The store was removed from McRae's hardware store which is in the same block. It was impossible to save Goodmurry's stock, the whole being quickly consumed and it was only by great exertions that adjoining buildings were saved. Mr. C. Goodmurry is in Osgesburg.

MESSRS. H. B. and W. C. B. Rathbun continue to enjoy the weather as still very pleasant. They expect to leave Santa Barbara for New Orleans before the 15th inst.
After spending a few days in that city they intend proceeding to Florida for a few weeks visit and hope to return to Deseronto by the end of March. It has been unusually cold in the south during the past two weeks,
the cold in Florida exceeding anything experienced during the past twenty years. It has worked and have a whole being groves this being the season for gathering
fruit. The loss will be very great to proprietors.

THE weather has been very severe during the past week. The storm of snow on Thursday and Friday was succeeded by slightly colder weather and Burries of snow on Saturday. The mercury then took a dip and has been remaining at a low level. The lowest temperatures on each day are as follows:—Sunday, 4°; Monday, 15°; Tuesday, 20°; Wednesday, 18°; and Thursday, 19°; all below zero. It is not often we have such a prolonged spell of cold weather.
This morning the thermometer registered 20° below zero.

MR. Wm. Evans and R. C. Carter spent some time last week at Sorol in the province of Quebec inspecting the fleet of steamers at that port. We believe they intend making several important alterations in our local fleet which will add greatly to their appearance as well as give increased speed.
On their return the gallant "Commodore"
was made come to be captured by the Ontario Board of Health authorities on the railway track and now carries as big an arm
as the rest of his fellow citizens.

THE approaching cold weather, that brings the young people to the city, rather than out on the veranda, has its practical uses. "Algermon," said she, lovingly, to her husband, "everything is so cheap now. I think it will be as good for us to housekeeping as soon as we are married." "That will be delightful, indeed,"
said he. "Material for curtains, bed cover-
lets and water-colors for panel painting
were never so cheap before." "Indeed, but how about the material for the 'How practical' but then, I suppose, I could paint a pan of biscuit on a plush background."

THE rule in warming a room, says the Chicago News, "is that a person tries to force heated air into a room full of cold air without affording the latter an escape. Instead of a room full of cold air warm air cannot be poured. During the cold snap last Saturday
a family in a warm house with a model furnace was nearly frozen, and the most active operations of the furnace failed to raise the mercury above 58°." A little fire
was started in a grate that had been closed,
and in 30 minutes the furnace was at 75°.

The fire in the grate had created a draught, which drew the cold air from the floor up the chimney, and gave a chance for the warm air to escape. The furnace took its place. With a little knowledge of the laws which govern the air, any person may be able to do only to get a great saving
in the use of fuel, but may very greatly
add to his or her comfort at the same time."

CORRECTION.

To the Editor of the Tribune.

DEAR SIR.—Allow me, please, to correct
the remarks made in your last week's issue
concerning the said social and landlady at Mrs. Hill's. Positively there was no social made there of any kind, but a number of friends formed what is called a surprise party and made their destination at the above named place.

Now, if the writer is so ignorant of what is going around him, he had better write
up writing and attend to his own affairs.

THE WEDDING BELLS.

TELLING HER FORTUNE.

By the Author of "PROVED, OR NOT PROVED."

CHAPTER XX.

Dr. Watson had called in on his rounds to visit Clara Goss, who was standing with Mrs. Franklin in the hall. He took her hand a little over the pale cheeks and weary eyes, but Clara laughed at his grave face, declaring she never felt better, and thanking him for his kindness with all her old, limp, live grace.

"You must not forget to send me wedding-cards," she said, smiling at her, and again the same pained shadow crossed her face.

"I never mean to have any wedding-cards," she said. "I approve strongly of single blessedness, doctor, and I intend to practise my theory."

Dr. Watson laughed.

"I shall remind you of that speech on another time," he said, gayly. "Now good-bye, and a pleasant journey to you."

Then Mrs. Franklin carried her departing guest off to have some luncheon; and when they were alone, she said, faintly:

"You have lost all your bright looks, my Clara. Why is it? You love me, but you do not like to see such a face as that."

"Oh! I will brighten up then, Carrie. I am only thinking," Clara answered. Then she lifted her head and the lady's eyes were watching her. "Carrie," she said, pitifully, and the sweet lips quivered, "do you think he will ever forgive me?"

Mrs. Franklin's lips parted in a little amused smile.

"That is it, it is," she said, gently, as she stooped and touched the little quivering mouth. "I think he will find it very difficult."

And her own eyes filled at the sudden, wistful smile which came to the girl's lips as she returned the fond kiss.

"Tell Sir Grant that I have taken good care of you," Mrs. Franklin said, smiling, and she and her husband put Clara into the railway carriage; and the young girl clung to her with a little nervous, shrinking manner.

"Sir Grant! I should not think he cared much!" Clara said, smiling sorrowfully. He must not look upon me as an interloper, Carrie."

"An interloper! Why?"

"Because of Charnock and all the money! Do you think he will let me give it him back, Carrie?"

"I think it is very likely he will," laughed Mrs. Franklin, who had just come back after liberally tipping the guard; and then farewells were exchanged, the train glided away out of the station, and Mrs. Franklin had a last glimpse of the fair young face she loved so well.

"Poor child, how surprised she will be!" she said, as she turned away with her husband. "She is so full of life and energy, and she thinks a life of very great happiness is in store for her."

"I hope so. She's a sweet girl," said Mrs. Franklin, cordially. "Not a bit like that, thinking she stole the diamonds."

Meanwhile the train sped on its way to Charnock. Clara sat in the first-class compartment; and while Baxter joined privately at leaving the dull farm, where she had been extremely so, Clara thought of Lady Ellison's goodness and the approaching meeting, and her heart grew light as they approached Dimdale, the station for Charnock, and the time to elapse between that meeting could be counted by minutes.

As the train entered Dimdale station Clara bent eagerly forward. Several people were waiting for the arrival, and at first it was difficult to distinguish any one figure among the crowd; but presently Clara discerned the tall, graceful figure of a lady who stood apart from the rest, plainly and richly dressed, whose beautiful face was alight with eagerness and joy. Clara knew her at once, and almost uttered a cry of surprise as she saw the change in the beloved beautiful countenance.

Lady Ellison was looking ten years younger. The expression of patient sadness which had been the distinguishing characteristic of her face, had entirely disappeared. The strained, vacant look of her beautiful eyes was replaced by such a bright, eager, and intelligent look, that there was no wonder, Clara thought, as she sprang out of the carriage, that people turned to look at her.

Clara ran eagerly forward, and at the same moment Lady Ellison advanced to meet her, and headless of those around, almost unconscious of their presence, the young girl threw her arms round her, and hid her face for a moment on her breast.

"O, mother—mother!" she said, in a broken whisper, "what joy to see you!"

"What joy to see you, my darling!" Lady Ellison answered, tenderly, and buried her head in the waiting brougham, where, in her turn, she took the girl in her arms and tenderly scrutinized her face.

"Not much changed," she pronounced, smiling. "A little thinner, a little older, a little fairer, but my child! Clara still the same innocent eyes, the same sweet, tender mouth. Ah! my darling, does not this happiness make up for all the sadness of the past?"

"Oh! mother, yes," said Clara, earnestly. "But I am longing to hear all about it. All about your first marriage, and then all about Sir Grant."

"Sir Grant!" laughed Lady Ellison. "You expect him to call you by name? Will you because he has not the slightest intention of treating you with any ceremony, and invariably speaks of you as 'the child'?"

Clara laughed.

"O, mother! how happy you must be to have him with you!"

"Happy! I cannot tell you how happy. Clara, nor how thankful I am for such great blessings! Both together, too, as if one were not enough."

The drive to Charnock from Dimdale was a long one, and there was ample time to tell, and much to ask. Lady Ellison told Clara about her operation, about her fear of the recovery of her health, and about her pleasure in the recovery of her

Clara went forward bravely; but he did not appear to have heard her, for he took no notice of her presence. When she drew near she passed, trembling a little.

"Sir Grant," she said, softly, "I am very glad to see you."

Then the gentleman rose, threw down his book, and Clara found herself face to face with Richard Burke!

CHAPTER XXI.

AN EXPLANATION.

For a moment they stood confronting each other in silence. Then Clara uttered a faint cry of alarm, and put out her hand with a pitiful gesture, as if to steady him.

"Sir Grant! I hope my readers are better prepared for his identity with Richard Burke than my heroine is," she repeated. He made a step toward her, and took both trembling hands in his, looking down at the girl, pale, quivering with very tender eyes. He was silent for a minute or two, then he said, smiling:

"Why don't you finish your sentence, Clara? What are you very glad of?"

"I did not know," she faltered. "I did not expect to see you. I thought Sir Grant Ellison was here!"

"Sir Grant Ellison is here," he answered, quietly. "Why do you want to take your eyes from me, Clara?"

"Sir Grant Ellison is here!" she repeated, vaguely, not a suspicion of the truth striking her.

"Yes," he answered, smiling. "Come here, and I will introduce him to you."

He led her across the room to a great mirror, which stood between two windows. In it Clara saw the reflection of the man who stood before her, the tall man's figure looking so distinguished and stately in the suit which he wore, the white shirt, the girl's form, so slight and graceful in its rich black robes, the white, startled face, the wistful, wondering eyes, which went from the man to the girl, half-guilty, half-pleased.

"Well!" he said, smiling.

"I do not know," Clara said, tremulously. "I am very stupid, and you are mocking me, are you not?"

"Am I? I assure you that I was never more than a friend to Miss Fritch, and I am now to present Grant Ellison to you."

He smiled, smiling and bowing low. "He is a very good man, and he is very anxious to make you acquainted with him. He knows whether you are going to treat him a little more kindly than you did when you knew him as my uncle."

Then Clara understood at last, and with the rapidity of a flash of lightning all became clear to her. She knew him then, and with that knowledge came the explanation of all that had been difficult to understand in the past. She looked at him with wondering, dilated eyes, her face glowing with joy, and she said, "Grant Ellison! Grant Ellison!"

Grant Ellison drew her away from the glass, and putting her into a chair, knelt down before her, and said, "My dear Clara, are you angry, Clara?" he said, very tenderly. "Are you glad? Are you sorry? Have you no word of welcome for me, dear?"

"I have been waiting for you to welcome me with a great longing. Am I to be disappointed?"

"Oh, hush, hush!" the girl broke out, passionately. "I cannot bear it—I cannot bear it!"

And with that she covered her face with her hands, and burst into a passion of tears. Clara saw that she was weeping, and she was so near to her, that she could not resist the temptation to take her hands, and wipe away the tears. "What is the matter?" she said, very tenderly. "Are you angry, Clara?"

"No, no," she said, very tenderly. "I have been waiting for you to welcome me with a great longing. Am I to be disappointed?"

came out. It was fortunate enough to be able to do him a slight service, and he repaid me for it by a friendship which was my greatest comfort. I had a letter from him, and it was through my acquaintance with the writer of it, I learned that the woman I had married—I cannot call her my wife—was dead. Fred

Barth had a brother, and he was the owner of a little seaside place in Cornwall, which was a regular correspondent, and Fred, who was a most open and generous man, had his letters published, and read the scraps of news we contained to us as we sat over our evening pipes."

"About eighteen months ago he got a long and most interesting letter from his brother. It contained, among other items, the description of a terrible shipwreck, which had occurred on the rocks outside Tralarn, with in sight of land, and from the wreck only two people had been saved, and they were women."

"He paused for a moment, and lifted his hair from his forehead with a somewhat weary gesture."

"They were two sisters. One of them received little or no injury from the peril she had passed through; the other was so severely injured that she never rallied, and died within such time as to escape consciousness, and she was Camilla Ellison."

A little cry broke from Clara's lips, and she clasped her hands together. "Grant Ellison's face was very pale as he put his hand lightly on hers."

"Fred read out this account one night, and as I listened to the tale, I was struck by the unhappy woman who had met with such a terrible death was the woman for whom I had such time as to escape consciousness, and she was Camilla Ellison."

"She died," he said, smiling. "You are right, my child. Forgive me."

"There was a moment's silence. Sir Grant continued:

"I went to Mr. Fetherstone the next morning, and told him the whole story. I told him my name, and asked his advice. It might be that, now she was dead, my father might forgive me. Time, I thought, I asked with deep and sincere sympathy, and he advised me to return to England with him and Ted, to remain my assumed name until such time as I could ascertain whether my father would consent to forget the past and still wish to receive me."

It has been estimated that from a single pound of steel, costing about 50 cents, there can be manufactured 100,000 watch screws worth $11. Some of these machine-made screws are so small that an unaided eye could scarcely see them. They are made of steel, and they really are.

Melted steel under the microscope shows a kind of cellular tissue, the iron forming the nucleus of the cells, and the silicon and manganese forming the walls of the cells. These cells form agglomerations, known as compound cells, and are identified with what is known as the grain of the steel. The cells are the source of the iron of the steel.

Dr. C. E. Saunders states that as no outbreak of cholera has been known to occur in a new locality, it is not necessary to take a man to travel the distance from the nearest place where the disease already existed, it is really conclusive that human agency rather than the disease itself is responsible for the spread of the disease.

It has been observed that water is fattening, that those who drink large quantities of water have a tendency to become stout and rotundity. That there is considerable truth in this observation the Medical and Surgical Reporter fully substantiates. Though excessive imbibition of very cold (iced) water, especially when one is very warm, is not to be commended, yet we have reason to believe that the salutary use of pure spring water, at its natural temperature, is not only very conducive to health, but has an actual tendency to favor a fullness and roundness of the body.

M. Ballard asserts that flour kept in sacks for two or three years is unwholesome, because alkalis are formed in consequence of the acidity of the old flour. In the transformation of gluten under the influence of the natural ferment of wheat. When such flour is treated with ether and the product evaporated, it leaves a residue which is found a fatty matter which has an acid reaction, exhales a disagreeable odor and has an acid taste. If such water is added and the mixture permitted to stand, the sand bath a short time and then allowed to cool, the alkalis may easily be recognized on the glass by the appearance of small tears. The reactions may be obtained with flour even but to a year and a year and a half, but they are very marked with flour which has been two or three years after having been milled.

What is my opinion of honest rudeness of manner? I like it much better than this excessive politeness, which is usually a handsome screen for the heart. It is too dangerous to be carried about, except under cover. You often find a man who is rude because he knows his rudeness. I tell you, who has a heart as big and tender as the good Samaritan's, who though he might not know enough to take off his hat to a lady, or to bow to a man, would take it off and bring it full of water to a suffering comrade, if no other means were attainable; but you seldom find a man of excessive politeness who is so kind.

He knows enough to take off his hat to a lady, and does it with infinite grace, but he does not know enough to take off his hat to his wife and go on unconcerned, and to be comfortable. Now, don't say I am a crank. You know as well as I do, that excessive politeness is a result of bad training, not heart. The most polite lovers are usually the worst husbands. I don't believe in a man trying to be rude to his wife, and I don't believe in honest rudeness is far more commendable than hypocritical politeness. So there!—(Mrs. Brown.)

When the overcast's wife makes her annual or semi-annual trip to the city to buy her dry goods, and is waited upon by a dapper little lady, well-dressed and well-educated, she little thinks she is being waited upon by a lady who is working forty cents per day, as is often the case. Not only working for fifty cents per day, the wages of a spooler girl, but out of that must positively come two or three cents each day, and possibly the same on Sunday; that is, if such wages will afford her the luxury of church attendance.

It will be seen that this reduces her wages to positively forty cents per day, and often to thirty-seven, and yet she must dress like a lady, and she must be able to take a day. The employer is not to blame, either, for the "wages are full of them," standing ready to be taken at those figures. The system is to blame, and the blame is on the Gospel preaching in costly churches at from $5,000 to $10,000 per year to add one cent to the wages of these girls. They are working for about what it costs to clothe them. The younger girls in other cotton or woolen mills are infinitely better off. They get equal, if not better, wages. Their duties during working days are but little, and the temptation to spend money is much less, and factors in the matter, there are no help in a factory village either pay cash for what they buy, or there is money enough to do them in the village stores.

At least 100, and possibly 75, per cent, of the well-dressed in cities are walking around in debt, and are not able to pay their bills for the clothing they buy. It is so.

LUNG DISEASES

In this paper we shall take up for consideration some thoughts with reference to the care of the skin.

1. The physical condition of the system. Without good health we cannot expect clear, healthy looking skin. The discoloration or unhealthy looking condition of the skin may be due to imperfect or impaired digestion. Those people who live largely on pastry, such as cake, pie, sweet-meats and foods cooked in fat, rarely have a clear, healthy looking skin. Sometimes a similar condition is brought about by a low and insufficient kind of food. The reason for

The failure of the Robin and Bontiller firms has occasioned much suffering among the fishing population of Gaspe and Bonaventure in the Province of Quebec. The Dominion Government will be compelled to relieve the wants of the destitute fishermen who are reported to be in a starving condition. Though the distress is the immediate consequence of the failure, it cannot be altogether regarded as an unmitigated evil. These two firms have long retarded the proper development of the gulf fisheries and they perpetuated the feudal system with all its attendant ignorance and stagnation in the district of country too long placed under their sway.

The first skirmish of the approaching struggle between the two political parties of Canada has taken place in the provincial legislature at Toronto. It arose from a proposed amendment to the Governor's address which elicited a debate on the justice of the punishment meted out to the leaders of the recent rebellion in the Northwest. The debate was very exciting and several of the speeches were characterized by more than ordinary ability and eloquence. Still it is questionable if the local assembly is the proper place to discuss this question. Dominion politics should be excluded from the local legislature which can find ample scope for work in its own domain.

COUNTY COUNCIL.

At the meeting on Thursday, 28th, the County appointed Mr. Jas. O. Hufman, and the Western Mr. E. D. O'Flynn as Auditors of public accounts. Mr. E. Read was appointed Auditor for the administration of justice accounts.

A by-law assuming a certain road near Thresher's Corners as a county road received its final reading. Messrs. Bleeker, Duncan, and the Warden were appointed delegates to a meeting at Peterborough to agitate for the Trent Canal. On motion of W. R. Aylsworth and Hanley the Warden and Clerk were authorized to draft a memorial to the Ontario Legislature pressing the claims of the Torrens Act. A memorial was signed expressing the desirability of shorter summer vacations in rural district schools. No action was taken on the memorial asking the Council to co-operate in securing a general stock law providing that no stock run at large without a herdsman. The Council complied with the prayer of a petition urging an enactment enforcing the railways to keep water drains unobstructed. No action was taken toward securing a general law regulating the width of wagon tires and sleighs in the County. Messrs. Ashley, Vermilyea, Hurley and Ross were appointed a committee to wait upon the Ontario Government to urge upon it the importance of assisting drainage works in Thurlow by grants to remove the rocks in the river Meira at Reed's old mill and Corby's dam. On Friday morning the correspondence between the County Treasurer and Attorney General in reference to land sales was read, eliciting the opinion of the latter that it was legal for treasurer and County Council to advertise land sales in more than one local paper. A memorial was also presented from the Treasurer asking for the appointment of a committee to examine into certain charges preferred against him in his management of land sales.

The Reports of the Gravel Road Superintendent and the Gravel Road Committee were read. The Com. recommended that the banking of gravel be continued where the same can be done at a saving to the County; that $20 be paid Duncan McNeil for wire fence; that the bridge in Stirling leading to the county gravel pit be repaired if Stirling pays one-half; that $25 be paid for the right of way on the colonization road from Lonsdale to Bridgewater in the 8th and 9th con. of Tyendinaga.

A by-law was introduced by Mr. Ashley, providing for the regulation of the salaries of County officials, and especially the redesigning of the Treasurer's salary. This drew out a long discussion participated in by all the members, but ended in the rejection of the measure. James Lang, an old county employee, now in reduced circumstances, was allowed $25. Mr. Hanley asked for a grant of $300 to be applied on the Bridgewater and Lonsdale colonization road, and after discussion the grant was made. On motion of Mr. W. R. Aylsworth, a committee composed of Messrs. Gordon, Vermilyea and the mover, were appointed to investigate the Treasurer's action in terms of his petition. On motion of Mr. Caskey the Clerk was instructed to procure copies of the Ontario Statutes for 1885 for Reeves of the minor municipalities.

On Saturday morning the Committee upon bridges and public buildings submitted their report, which stated that the result of the invitation for tenders for wood and material for the construction of bridges has had most satisfactory results; that tenders were invited for an iron or stone bridge at Madoc; that a new iron bridge be constructed at Shannonville; that tenders be invited for its erection, and that the Chairman, W. R. Aylsworth and F. West be a committee to ascertain the cost of construction; that $100 be spent in renewing Papeau Creek bridge; that $100 be appropriated for two bridges between Marmora and Peterborough; and that the work of filling in at Lonsdale is in progress at one dollar per yard. The Report and recommendation of the Committee were adopted. Mr. Ashley gave notice of a motion for the June session reducing the Treasurer's salary. On motion the Council adjourned until the second Tuesday in June.

OBITUARY.

Mary McMaster Wilson, whose death at the ripe age of nearly 89 years was announced in a late issue, came to Canada from the town of Belfast, Ireland, 32 years since with her husband, the late James Wilson, and two infant children and settled on Amherst land, then known as the Isle of Tazoo. After remaining there a short time they rented a farm in the Township of Richmond on which they lived for some years and reared a family of eight children, four sons and four daughters, whom Mrs. Wilson in obedience to the instruction of the Apostle Paul to the Ephesians endeavored to bring up in the nurture and admonition of the Lord. To this end, although the Wilsons were Presbyterians in Ireland, the children were regularly sent to a Church of England place of worship and Sunday School, there being at that early date no Presbyterian minister between Kingston and Belleville. In 1848 Mr. and Mrs. Wilson by industry, perseverance and honesty of principle having accumulated a little property purchased the last lot on the broken front of Tyendinaga, originally a portion of the Mohawk Reserve. This farm from being at the time of its purchase almost wild the Wilsons lived to see, by the blessing of God upon their labors, one of the best improved in the neighborhood. In 1858, there still being no Presbyterian service in the vicinity, Mrs. Wilson united herself in the rite of confirmation with the Church of England, two of her children becoming full members of the Church at the same time. She was a frequent communicant and attached to the church until 1869, when on the visit of the Rev. John Scott, a Presbyterian minister, to Mill Point, now Deseronto, she returned to the faith into which she had received her earliest religious instruction, the faith of her fathers. She, however, still loved and respected the Church of England for two of her children had received the Sacrament of Baptism from the Church; two had renewed their baptismal vows in the Apostolic rite of confirmation; two had been regularly visited during their long illness by a clergyman of the church and had been comforted in their dying hours by the offices of the visitation of the sick and communion of the sick, and when their souls had departed from their bodies they were committed to their last resting place, the cemetery of Christ Church, Mohawk Reserve, with the solemn and impressive service of the Church of England. Earth to earth, ashes to ashes, dust to dust, in sure and certain hope of the Resurrection to eternal life through our Lord Jesus Christ.

Mrs. Wilson fell peacefully asleep on Wednesday afternoon, the 20th of January. Her funeral service was preached by the Rev. R. J. Craig, of Deseronto, who had been her faithful spiritual adviser during her long illness. A large concourse, notwithstanding the unusually severe weather, assembled to pay the last tribute of respect to one who had, during her residence in Canada upwards of half a century been an eminent Christian and a kind and honest neighbor.—Com.

TO HER WHO KNOWS.

Because your eyes are blue, your lips are red
And the soft hair is golden on your head,
And your sweet smiling can make glad the day,
And on your cheeks pink roses have their way,
Should I adore you?

Since other maids have shining golden hair,
And other cheeks the June's pink roses wear,
And other eyes can set the day alight,
And other lips can smile with youth's delight,
Why bow before you?

But if the eyes are blue for me alone,
And if for only me the rose has blown,
And but for me the lips their sweet smile wear,
Then shall you meet me in your golden hair,
I will adore you.

And as my saint, my soul's one anning star
That lights my darkness in its throne afar
As lights the Summer moon the waiting seas,
With all I am, and all I strive to be,
I'll bow before you.

THE BROOD MARE AND THE COLT.

It has been well and truly said that the training and education of a young animal should begin before it is born. This is not only possible but easy. The disposition and character of the progeny is most apt to be like that of the mother, and a nervous, vicious, restless mare, will be apt to produce a colt with similar faults. This should be taken into account now, when the unborn colt is physically formed, and is about to derive its mental character from the dam, as we may say with truth; for if any of the lower animals exhibits traces of mind and reasoning power, the horse excels in this respect. In its nervous system, a horse approaches more closely to a human being than any other animal, and of all our domestic servants, it is influenced in a greater degree by its master's treatment than any other. The management of the brood mare, then, becomes an important part of the owner's business. Feeding is but a small part of this; the most important is the culture of a kind and docile disposition. The mare should not be overworked, and if overworked, the whip should be put aside—if it is ever used, which is a grand mistake in the treatment of a horse, but is made needful at times because of the use of it upon brood mares—every gentle attention should be given and in every respect the mare should be controlled by kindness, and difficulties carefully avoided. If this conduct were the rule, our horses would be like those of the Arabs, our friends and our slaves, and would be always willing and eager to obey our commands and even anticipate them. A horse can be taught to understand our language. If the one word "whoa," can be understood, other words can.—American Agriculturalist.

LIVE STOCK NOTES FOR FEBRUARY.

The fourteenth of February is said to be the stock-feeding mid-winter, and so in fact it is, very nearly. The last part of the winter is, however, the most trying to live stock than the first, and they need more careful feeding and better protection against changes. Contrary to former practice, young cows are now a-days quite frequently milked nearly up to calving. With old cows it makes little difference; but great milkers, especially early milkers, are in danger of having milk fever, and it is thought that there is less danger if the flow of milk does not cease. Cow stables should be warm, sheep pens, on the contrary must be airy. As ewes approach weaning, increase their ration of roots, separate them in small pens from the flock, and take care that the early lambs do not get fatally chilled. It is well to cut the straw used for litter into foot lengths. Breeding sows need close, warm pens, with plenty of litter and good feed, in which cooked vegetables, potatoes, pumpkins, turnips, and raw apples may be well mixed. Horses need care to prevent colds when used on the road. Always have large blankets ready to cover them when standing. Injuries from kicking or kicking, as well as from falls on the ice are not unfrequent, and should in every way be guarded against. As spring approaches, the importance of having definite plans of work for the season will be felt, and whatever good ideas may occur, should be made a note of for future reference. Implements may be overhauled and put in order, so that when the time to use them comes, they will be ready, and vexatious delays, and losses saved.—American Agriculturalist.

The medical board to investigate injuries received by volunteers in the North-West campaign have been in session at Belleville for two days. Twelve claims have been before them. The military board will pass upon these and forward them to Ottawa.

Moukhar Pasha, the Turkish Commander-in-Chief in Egypt, proposes that a Turkish Egyptian army be organized for the defence of Egypt, as being less costly than the present English army.

Prince Leopold of Prussia has made an offer of marriage to Princess Victoria of Wales. If the offer is accepted the betrothal will be celebrated on the Emperor William's birthday next March.

Whither We Are Drifting.
In an address before the Liverpool Geographical Society, by Prof. Leade, on "The domination of the Two Americas," he shows that 150,000,000 tons of matter in solution, are annually poured into the Gulf of Mexico by the Mississippi River, and this, it is estimated, would reduce the time for the denudation of one foot of land over the whole basin—which time has hitherto been calculated solely from the matter in suspension—from one foot in 6,000 years to one foot in 4,500 years. Similar calculations applied to the La Plata, the Amazon, and the St. Lawrence show that an average of 100 tons to the square mile, per annum, are removed from the land surface of the continent. This, it is stated, agrees with results previously arrived at by Prof. Leade in respect to Europe, from which it is inferred that the whole of the land surface of the Atlantic Ocean, America, Africa, Europe and Asia, contributes matter in solution which, if reduced to rock at two tons to the cubic yard, would equal one cubic mile every six years.

More Nerve than He.
Sherbrooke, Que., boasts a young girl with nerve. A young man at a party, who was boasting of his nerve, was challenged to hold up a small tin to be shot at with a revolver, which he bravely declined to do. A young lady present at once offered to hold the tin, and did so unshakingly while it was pelted by a bullet fired at a distance of twenty yards. She then held up another object—a small plate—which met with the same fate, and picking up one of the bullets, held it for another trial. Her confidence in the skill of the marksman, who has been several times a member of the Wimbledon team, was not shaken, for the broken plate was again hit by a bullet while in her fingers.

HOUSEHOLD.

PANCAKES.

A writer in The Cook condemns pancakes in the most vigorous terms, particularly those made of buckwheat. He considers the chief of all dietetic abominations, because buckwheat has the heaviest. We imagine that the principal injury done to the use of buckwheat pancakes is when the use of these is overdone.

That the grain of buckwheat is nutritious is indisputable, containing as it does about 10 per cent. of gluten and 52 per cent. of starch. It contains about 6 per cent. gum and sugar; but that it has the injurious action on the blood, causing skin eruptions, and perhaps also a bad effect on the brain, seems due to its being used in a superabundant article of food it is entitled to use in a reasonable degree, and then no harm would need be expected. It is a very hot and hot from the greasy pan in American style on the table once a day, and then make of them almost the sole article of food, it is overdone in their use; and a rule is given should be broken.

That we may drive further terror into the hearts of the householders, we will take as our motto the closing flourish of the writer referred to:

"Their one remedy, that of increasing the temperature of the consumer, is in nearly all cases an evil. Were a man residing at the north pole he might warm himself by eating buckwheat. But in the temperate latitude buckwheat injuriously overheats the blood. All the benefits of buckwheat are lost when it is used in a superabundant article of food."

At the same time, one of the evils of buckwheat—the blood-purifying and cause of eruptions which mark the skin of those who eat it—could be avoided. People with their circulations stimulated and their system excited, to bring the system back to its normal state, and thus to the ordinary affairs of life, let alone any others."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

In selecting flour, first look to the color. If it is white with a yellowish straw color, buy it. If it is white with a bluish cast, or with black specks in it, refuse it. Next examine its adhesiveness. Wet and knead a little of it between your fingers; if it is soft and sticky it is poor. Then throw a little lump of dried flour against a smooth surface; if it falls like powder it is bad. Lastly, squeeze some of the flour in your hand; if it retains the shape given by the pressure, that, too, is a bad sign.

Few people know how to apply a mustard plaster as a rub to the skin. If the mustard be mixed with the white of egg instead of water, the plaster will draw through without blistering the most delicate skin.

In putting away summer or winter's clothing for the season, label all packages on the outside, and keep handy a memorandum book in which the contents of each trunk, drawer, or closet specified; it will prove a saver of time and vexation. One often forgets just where a bundle or mittens, or scarfs, etc., were put, especially if the accustomed place has been changed.

When the burners of lamps become clogged with char put them in strong soapuds and boil away to clear them.

Milk which has been turned or changed can be sweetened and made fit for use again by stirring in a little soda.

A simple remedy for neuralgia is to apply grated horseradish, prepared the same as for table use, to the temple when the face or head is affected, or to the wrist when the pain is in the arm or shoulder.

A Cure For Drunkenness.

The cure of drunkenness is a task with which the regular practitioner has been unable to cope. Nine-tenths of mankind look upon drunkenness as a social vice, which a man may conquer by force of will. Drunkenness is a bad habit, we all admit, in the moderate drinker. In the confirmed drunkard it is a disease of the nervous system. The medical treatment of these diseases consists in the employment of remedies which will cure the nervous system which, when diseased, causes lunacy, dementia, and other diseases. Remedies must be employed that will cure the appetite, for strong drink, steady the trembling hand, revive the lagging spirit, balance the mind, etc. The nervous system of the drunkard must be given a nutriment that will take the place of the accustomed liquor, and prevent the physical and moral prostration that often follows a sudden breaking off from the use of alcoholic drinks. Laban's medicine may be given in tea or coffee, without the knowledge of the person taking it, if so desired. Those of our readers who are interested in this subject, should send their address for Laban's Treatise, in book form, on drunkenness, to the publishers, Messrs. J. B. Lippincott & Co., 15 N. 2nd St., Philadelphia, Pa., which will be mailed free to any address, when stamp is inclosed for postage. Ad. M. V. Lippincott, 15 N. 2nd St., Philadelphia, Pa., or J. B. "He who is false to present duty," says Henry Ward Beecher, "breaks a thread in the loom, and will find the law when he may have forgotten its cause." A case in point occurs to us. Mr. Wm. Ryder, of St. Jefferson, Mo., writes to us recently to report that, "I had a large abscess on each leg, that kept continually discharging for twenty years. Nothing did me any good except Dr. Pierce's 'Golden Medical Discovery.' It cured me." Here is a volume expressed in a few words. Mr. Ryder's experience is entitled to our readers' careful consideration.—The Sun.

CORRESPONDENCE.

MELROSE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The meeting on Monday evening was a great success financially and as an entertainment. The amount of money realized was $150, which amount the building committee will no doubt find use for.

The new church is something very fine and is a credit to the congregation and an ornament to the neighborhood. Prof. Ross, of Queen's College, conducted the dedicatory services. The church was filled both morning and evening.

There has been a great deal of sore throat among the children in this vicinity. Some think it is diphtheria, but Dr. Forin says it is not and as he is having remarkably good success people would naturally suppose that he knows what he is doctoring for.

As the gossip of this vicinity have been having a "dread" lately, probably they will be perfectly willing to let others have their day now. According to all accounts the others do not intend to let said gossip's talent slumber but intend to give them a wider scope and a more public place to exercise their talents in. It is said they are all to have the pleasure of telling their tale before a magistrate. Some of the young ladies who were particularly interested will probably enjoy telling what they have been saying before a crowd of men.

SOPHISBURGH.

From Our Own Correspondent.

I believe there is to be a great musical entertainment next week in the Town Hall. There has been a good many private parties and oyster suppers, &c., with prospects of lots more.

On Saturday, a man, not more than 1,000 miles from the Belton neighborhood, who had been to Pictou, and judging from his actions, had tarried too long somewhere, was coming along the 3rd con. driving his old horse at a fearful pace, when a poor animal could stand it no longer but fell dead in the road. Such cruelty to animals should not be tolerated in this vicinity.

I do not see much news from old Sophisburgh lately, but I suppose there is not much news just now as we are inclined to call this a dull winter, with few roads, bad weather and things pretty dull in general, looking at it from a business point of view. Socially it is all right, and the people are having a series of meetings on Big Island. I believe, with very good success. Rev. J. C. Ash is a fine preacher and makes a stir wherever he goes.

The Bethel neighborhood had a grand old-fashioned tea-meeting on Thursday night, but as the roads were very bad there was not as large a turn out as there would have been under more favorable circumstances. They had, however, a good chairman (Mr. Ash), a good food, a good entertainment, and all together a good time, but at the close they found a lot of provender on hand, so it was decided to hold a social on Saturday night to eat up the remainder. The roads were pretty well cleared out, and a very pleasant evening spent. Proceeds about $50.00.

LONSDALE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Sir,—I am in receipt of several numbers of your valuable paper, which, I suppose, were sent from your office, and have had much pleasure in perusing the same. I find correspondence from all quarters, and I do not see Lonsdale represented and think our flourishing village should be noticed in your apt little paper. As it appears of our home scribbles, many of them are better than myself, neglect to report for us, I have concluded to at least let your numerous readers know there is such a place as Lonsdale, and that we are all alive and in business.

Quite lively times here, good sleighing, wood coming in in large quantities, and our grist mill is running at full blast giving the best of satisfaction.

Messrs. Bruin & Haight have sold all the sleighs and cutters they could possibly get ready and do not doubt could sell many more if they had them on hand.

We do not have any marriages to chronicle this week, but judging from appearances we may have in a short time. I am sure we will keep up with your friends at Read.

Misses Frank and Emma Williams have returned home from visiting at their uncle's line and it is not likely our American country will get them now, boys, if you improve the time.

Our merchant, Mr. James McCullough, is doing a rushing business, judging from the number of customers passing in and out of his store and the number of commercial travellers to whom he is giving orders for large amounts of goods.

The work on the north span of the south bridge here is fast reaching completion. The north half of the bridge has been taken away and the space between the centre pier and the end of the bridge filled in with stone, thus doing away with half the length of the said bridge at the south side.

Mr. Abbott, the successor to T. J. Osborn, is doing a rushing business in harness, also Mr. Sandy Grant in the same business is prospering finely, but they both lack one thing, I think that is, each have a wife to complete their happiness. I know of one of them at least has come to that conclusion and decided to supply that need soon. I would say to the other hurry up or you will be left.

SOLMESVILLE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Frank Deane has a fine Norman Percheron colt two years old, that weighs 1,214 pounds.

The ice at Peterson's Ferry (or rather Rathburn's Ferry of late) is very poor and scarcely safe for a single rig.

Mr. J. B. Cronin has returned from Deseronto last Friday with a load of lumber was unfortunate enough to get his load in the ice, but got it out with much trouble, as he was kindly assisted by Jacob E. Rathburn & Co., to reach old Prince Edward safe and sound.

One of Deseronto's famous butchers visited this part of the country last week and drove away two fine cattle. He may have won in that deal, but lost in another little game for cigars were trumps, and we hope the next time he comes this way he will bring a box of cigars with him.

Mr. Frank Solmes, one of the proprietors of Rosedale stock farm and importer of short-horn Durham cattle and black pigs has started on a trip to the Sunny South via Montreal, but whether a "guest" or companion we have yet to learn, and at any rate we hope his health will be A No. 1 on his return.

DEMORESTVILLE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The third quarterly meeting will be held in the Methodist Church, Demorestville, on Sabbath the 14th.

The Belleville Band are expected to hold an all-day service in South Church on the Island of Northport.

The Rev. J. C. Ash has been conducting special service in this church for the last two weeks, and there has been a general revival of religious interest on the whole Island.

The marriage bells have been ringing of late, with visits from the tin horn and cow bell. Mr. Egerton Leonard, from the Township of Portland, has been up and captured one of our fair young ladies, Miss Mary Fox of Northport.

Mr. Isaac Eaton, of Ameliasburg, conducted divine service on the Big Island last Sabbath, in the morning at the North Church, and in the evening in the South. Mr. Eaton's services are always very acceptable to the people here.

The Rev. Mr. Deibel was a great success, considering the great storm that raged till noon on that day. Our young people of Northport, came out bravely to help and cheer him.

Our promising young councillor, Mr. David Goodridge, of Northport, was a fair and blooming bride, Miss Williams, of Crofton, Township of Camden. There was a very pleasant family gathering at his father's residence, and the evening was a happy one.

Coming soon after his election to the Township Council, we hope that David may carry his constituents with him, and there be before him and his young helpmate a life of great usefulness in the community. As a neighbor we throw the traditional shoe of good luck.

A TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE.

QUEBEC, JANUARY 30.—During the frightful tempest which prevailed some ten days ago all over the Gulf and Lower St. Lawrence, four hunters of Godbout had a most miraculous escape from a terrible death, having drifted for some 20 miles during forty hours on a piece of floating ice. Napoleon Corneau, his brother and two of his sons, and a Mr. Labeau, went out from Godbout River in two canoes to hunt seals and ducks. The two Labres were engaged in killing a seal upon a field of floating ice, when the animal broke its way upon them. Napoleon Corneau, who is telegraph operator at Godbout, and one of the best skippers of most noted hunters in the country, went to their assistance with his brother. After killing the seal they were drifted so far out into the Gulf that they were unable to return. A merciless storm raged around them, and soon they were out in the middle of the Gulf, thirty miles from either shore. Their canoes became badly frozen and they were unable to take to their canoes as the ice broke away beneath them. After drifting, as already described, for many miles during forty hours, they managed to land upon the north shore of the Gulf near St. Anne du Mont. Thence they were driven to Motis, a distance of 56 miles, being about 100 miles from their starting point. They journeyed by Intercolonial Railway, arriving in this city yesterday. They will shortly leave for the north shore at Godbout, which is 40 miles from the city. The distance from the city to the north shore is some 240 miles. They will be able to drive as far as they wish, but the remaining distance, some 80 miles, will have to be walked on snowshoes.

By the Author of "PROVED OR NOT PROVED," ETC.

Mr. Mowat states that no change will be made in the present franchise bill until after a general election. It is a misfortune that the Dominion and local parliaments did not grant manhood suffrage when they made the last extension of the franchise. They would thus have avoided the expense and rascality attendant on the present method of compiling the lists. As matters are now, revising officers are expected to cook the lists in such a manner as may please the powers to whom they owe their appointments. Thousands of ratepayers will, in consequence, be deprived of the right of suffrage.

LONDON was for several hours on Monday at the mercy of a vast mob who committed several excesses, fortunately attended with no loss of life. There is much distress among unemployed mechanics in that vast metropolis. The socialists also continue to grow in strength, and are unceasing in their efforts to hasten those reforms which they consider indispensable for the welfare of the masses.

It was, therefore, an easy matter to make a demonstration of a formidable character. The riot is a powerful argument for the necessity of hastening those social reforms, on the consummation of which the happiness of so many of the toiling millions of the land depends.

It would appear from a recent speech delivered at Newcastle by Mr. Morley, the new Secretary for Ireland, that the legislation for the settlement of Irish difficulties will be of a more sweeping character than is generally supposed. The announcement of Mr. Gladstone on this important matter will be everywhere awaited with breathless eagerness. As Mr. Morley says, it is time that this Irish question was settled once for all. Let us hope that the new ministry will concede some fair measure of home rule, which we are certain will not be incompatible with the integrity of the empire. This, with a general reform of the land laws for the three kingdoms, will tend to allay much of the discontent which retards the prosperity of Ireland. The difficulties which beset British statesmen in dealing with this burning question are almost insurmountable, but the great body of the British people are prepared to make concessions, and will extend their support to any measure based on the principles of liberty and justice. The statesman who achieves success will win the imperishable gratitude of millions.

ONTARIO REPORTS.

The fourteenth Annual Report of the Inspector of Public Charities on the Institution for the Education of the Blind, at Brantford, is at hand. It shows that during the year 1884-85 the work performed in way of instruction was of a very successful character. During the year there were 160 pupils in attendance, 86 males and 74 females. Of these 37 were from Belleville, 3 from Co. Hastings; 3 from Lennox and 2 from Prince Edward. Since the opening of the institution there have been 386 pupils in attendance, of whom 210 were males and 176 females. Belleville and Hastings sent 11; Lennox 4 and Prince Edward 5. The total for the year was 160, ending 30th Sept was $33,355.92, making the average cost per pupil $202.92.

The Fifteenth Annual Report of the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb at Belleville shows this institution is becoming more efficient. The Inspector in his report refers to the excellent health which prevailed and the general tidiness and cleanliness everywhere displayed. The general repairs made during the vacation have added much to the appearance and comfort of the Institution. Under Mr. Matheson, its excellent superintendent, the pupils have made satisfactory progress in their studies. From the farm there were rooted produce of the value of $2,126.94, and the vegetables from the garden were estimated at $1,578.55. The garden received 33 prizes at the county show. Much trouble has been experienced with contractors in regard to the quality of meat, butter, &c. furnished, much of this being of an inferior quality. More chapel accommodation is required. During the year 1884-85 there were 284 pupils in attendance, 168 males and 116 females. Bruce sent the largest number; Hastings sent 8, one of them being from Deseronto; Lennox and Addington 2, and Prince Edward 2. Since the opening of the institution 703 pupils have been in attendance, of which 27 came from Hastings; 6 from Lennox and 4 from Prince Edward. Of these 703 pupils, 600 were the children of parents not related before marriage; 47 were the children of first cousins; 12 of second cousins and 7 of third cousins and 16 of other relations, while 21 were unknown. Of the families represented, one family contained 5 males; three contained 4; ten 3; and forty six had 2. There are seven institutions for the deaf and dumb in the Dominion; three in Quebec; two in New Brunswick; one in Nova Scotia and one in Ontario. The whole number of pupils in attendance at these during the year was 747, of whom 380 were males and 367 females. The total number of pupils who have received instruction in these was 1630. The maintenance expenditure of the Belleville Institution for the past year was $40,985.68, making the annual cost of each pupil $164.61, a small decrease as compared with the previous year.

We have also received the Report of the Fruit Growers Association for the year 1885. It is an interesting document of 148 pages, containing extended reports of the transactions of the Association. A copy of this should be in the hands of every fruit grower in Ontario. Information given is of great value. The Receipts of the Association for 1885 was $4,448.86 and expenses $3,596.27. The membership is 1,622. Three meetings were held during the year. The President of the Association is Wm. Saunders, of London; the Secretary,

D. W. Beadle, of St. Catharines, and the Director for No. 4 division which includes Hastings, Prince Edward, Lennox and Addington, is F. C. Dempsey, of Treason. Any person may become a member by the payment of one dollar.

THE LADY OF LYONS.

This fine play was again played on the boards on Thursday night of last week by the Deseronto Dramatic Association in aid of the destitute poor of the town and the large crowd that it drew must have satisfied manager McKee that the efforts of himself and company were appreciated by the audience. We have before given a résumé of this interesting drama and shall, therefore, content ourselves with reviewing the cast. Of the leading parts were Miss Millie Anderson who took the leading parts of Claude Melnotte and Pauline Deschappelles respectively we do not intend to say anything more than that their rendition of those characters was simply excellent. At the end of the third act when Claude goes to the war the audience was visibly affected and many shed tears. Mr. W. D. McKee, as Beaumont, was particularly good. In fact we doubt if he has ever appeared to better advantage before a Deseronto audience. Mr. Archer, as Col. Damas, was also extremely good and was especially commendable in the fencing scene which was excellent. Mr. Dougherty again appeared as Glavin and showed a natural aptitude for high comedy and was evidently a favourite with the audience. Mr. Higgins as the Innkeeper did good service and acted his part well. He subsequently appeared as one of the footlights and how their thanks for the vociferous applause with which they were greeted, and as the curtain dropped on the fourth act where Claude goes to the war the audience was visibly affected and many shed tears. Mr. W. D. McKee, as Beaumont, was particularly good. In fact we doubt if he has ever appeared to better advantage before a Deseronto audience. Mr. Archer, as Col. Damas, was also extremely good and was especially commendable in the fencing scene which was excellent. Mr. Dougherty again appeared as Glavin and showed a natural aptitude for high comedy and was evidently a favourite with the audience. Mr. Higgins as the Innkeeper did good service and acted his part well. He subsequently appeared as one of the footlights and how their thanks for the vociferous applause with which they were greeted, and as the curtain dropped on the fourth act where Claude goes to the war the audience was visibly affected and many shed tears.

The farce of "Only a halfpenny" was very well acted but owing to the lateness of the hour it did not receive that attention its merits deserved. Mr. Higgins, as Fitzroy Plantagenet performed his part well. Mr. Bedford, as Stanley Jones, also acted well but his part is dramatic and not farce. Miss Gault, as Henrietta, looked and acted charmingly, and Miss Dryden, as Bridget, was all that could be desired. In fact the farce was a pretty little sketch entirely devoid of all vulgarity. The orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Sam Anderson, was deserving of all praise. By express desire they repeated a part of the music they performed at the Association's last entertainment and they received a very enthusiastic reception. Mr. Anderson and Mr. Taylor were first and second violin; Miss Deane, piano; Mr. Mallory, trombone; Mr. Mallory, jr., cornet; and Mr. Butler, kettle drum. Their services were voluntary and to them all are deeply indebted. The Rathbun Company Band also attended and played some excellent selections before the rise of the curtain. The entertainment was a handsome sum. Our worthy citizen, Mr. Jas. Cameron, played his opera hall at the service of the Association free of charge.

Use Ayer's Hair Vigor

Hair Vigor. It stimulates and cleanses the scalp, giving it a healthy action. It removes dandruff and prevents humors. By its use, falling hair is checked, and brassy or weak hair is restored to its vigor and freshness of youth. "I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for promoting the growth of the hair, and think it unequalled. For restoring the hair to its original color, and for a dressing, it cannot be surpassed."—Mrs. George La Fever, Esion Rapids, Mich.

Prepared by J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

Is harmless and sure in its effects. It is incomparable as a dressing, and is especially valuable for the lustre and richness of tone it imparts to the hair. "I have found Ayer's Hair Vigor highly satisfactory. As a dressing, and for its cleanliness and freedom from injurious effects, it is unexceptionable. It restores the natural color, stimulates a healthy growth, and renders the hair soft and pliable."—Mrs. (Rev.) Orro A. Thomas, Nemaha, Kan.

A VALENTINE.

A Valentine! Ah, can it be
That some one has addressed to me
These lines so sweet and tender!
Name or initial is not set
Upon the page, and yet—and yet
I think I know the sender.

What though the writing be disguised
And many a little trick devised
To aid the fond deception;
St. Valentine provides the key
That spoils the little mystery
The moment of reception.

We may be right, we may be wrong;
For lack of confirmation strong
We give the reign to fancy,
And let her wander at her will,
And her bright destiny fulfill
In fields of necromancy.

And Valentines would lose their charm
If they at once could doubt diarm
Ere yet the seal was broken;
And so the deeper the disguise,
The more delightful the surprise,
And sweeter is the token.

—Josephine Pollard.

A VALIANT MAN.

With the fierce boa-constrictor he had come
off a victor,
In the jungles of tropic Brazil,
And the wild alligator and all things of that nature
He said 'twas a pleasure to kill.

'Twas a cold day and drizzly whenever a grizzly
Or panther could make him afraid,
And tropical vermin that set people squirmin'

Didn't terrify him the least shade.
He said he had seen a wild roaring hyena
Quail and crouch at the glance of his eye,
And an African lion that he had his eye on
Was calm as a pig in a sty.

So the people of Newville, this bruiser from Brussels,

Regarded with feelings of awe,
And this boastful new comer for the whole
of one summer.

Regaled them with tales of his jaw,
But bills from the tailor and plumber and sailer

Piled up on his table unpaid,
And 'twas misery and woe, sir, to the butcher and grocer

To whom he awarded his trade.
The cook and dressmaker, the staid undertaker,

The painter, the printer the priest,
The clam and fish dealer, the medical healer;

He swindled from greatest to least.
So when the spring was a budding he left
on a sudden,

This man of such valiant renown,
He left every creditor as poor as an editor,
For he'd "stuck" every man in the town.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Are you disturbed

Gums, reduces Inflammation, and gives tone

The loss of cattle in the Pan Handle region during the recent storm is set down at 200,000 head. This must necessarily be a mere guess, however, and it is to be hoped that it is much over the mark.

No other medicine is so reliable as Ayer's
Cherry Pectoral for the cure of colds, coughs and all derangements of the respiratory organs tending towards consumption. It affords sure relief for the asthmatic and consumptive, even in advanced stages of disease.

LOCAL ITEMS.

We were informed yesterday that one of the occupants of Calamity Hall had joined

companied by solid testimony in the shape

As entertainment under the auspices of the Ladies Aid Society of St. Marks was held in the basement of the Church on the evening of Thursday, the 18th inst. There will be readings, recitations, music and other amusements. A happy time may be expected. Admission only 15 cts. Please remember the date.

The third of the series of entertainments
in connection with the Methodist Church was held last Wednesday evening under the auspices of the young people of the congregation. The attendance though not so large as on former occasions was very good,
and the programme submitted deserving of praise. Mr. George E. Clements as chairman proved the right man in the right place. Solos, Duets, Quartettes and Choruses were well given, the following taken part, viz: the Misses Walker, Clements, Bradshaw, Warton, Anderson, and Messrs.
Archer, Walker, Aylsworth and Charles Clements. Readings and recitations of superior merit were given by the Misses Roy-lance, Porter, Hattie Stafford, Bradshaw, and Chas. Empey and Hiram Miller. At the close Rev. Mr. Croesley announced that the last and best entertainment of the series
would be given in about six weeks by himself and the children. About $120 have been already taken in by these entertainments.

If a well be poisoned, woe be to those who drink thereat. It is worse to poison
the fountain of life, for one's self and for posterity. Often by carelessness, or misfortune, or inheritance this has been done.

EARLY CHICKENS.

The greatest profit in poultry keeping is from the early chickens. By good feeding and management, some of the hens may be brooding in January, and all the chicks may be saved by the use of artificial brooders.
Incubators are used by experts with success,
but farmers and ordinary poultry keepers
are rarely successful with these machines.
Brooders, however, may be used by any person, even a boy or girl, who will simply see that the heat is not excessive, and when the chicks open their mouths, give them fresh air. Eighty degrees is quite enough warmth
for newly hatched chicks, which are taken from the nest as they come out, and are placed in the brooder until all the brood is
out, when they may be removed to a warm, glazed coop, with the hen. We have had young chicks thus nursed until they were strong, which ran about in the snow in February with great pleasure and comfort, and not one was lost out of a lot of ninety, which were all hatched in January. All that is required is to have a warm part of the buildings or an attic-room for the setting
hens, and glazed coops set in a sunny place
out of doors for the chicks when they come from the brooder. —American Agriculturist.

antee a style and finish which will stand comparison with any House in the Trade. Mr. Stoddart, who is already well known for his superiority in making a good stylish fit, is in charge of this Department, and will be pleased to

BOOTS and SHOES.

In this Department the BIG STORE still maintain their well known reputation for keeping only the best quality and the most fashionable Goods manufactured, their facilities for buying, and the immense quantity of Boots be done by other competitors who profess to sell the same class of Boots. Do not be induced to purchase inferior Goods simply because the price is low, such articles are dear at any cost. The Big Store do not impose upon their customers trashy goods, but sell only first-class articles, and this principle has

To average one's self is to confess that one has been abandoned; but, is not the part of a noble mind to be wounded by an injury?

Homelessness is almost a great merit in a book as in a house, if the reader would be angry. It is next to beauty and a very high thing.

Let us bear in mind the supreme necessity of honesty. We are not to confuse honesty with rudeness or faithfulness with cantankerousness. Many a man, who is very "faithful," when he is simply unscrupulous; and prizes himself that he has been "speaking the truth in love," when he has been simply venting the bad passions of his mind.

A Cure For Drunkenness.

The cure of drunkenness is a task with which the regular practitioner has been unable to cope. Ninety-nine out of a hundred look upon drunkenness as a social vice, which a man may overcome by force of will. Drunkenness is a habit, we all admit, in the moderate drinker. In the confirmed drunkard it becomes a disease of the nervous system. It is a habit, we all admit, in the moderate drinker. In the confirmed drunkard it becomes a disease of the nervous system.

And when to the Indian's natural love of plunder were added the incitement of revenge and the hope of driving the invader from the hunting grounds for which he has been the real man's home for centuries, and when the war was not proof against the artful combination of the two.

The Tribune.

FRIDAY, FEB. 19, 1886.

From different parts of the Northwest come rumors that the Indians are preparing for a rising in the spring. Most of these probably arise from a desire to have troops settled in the different towns with the view of benefiting by the government expenditure for their support. Still it would be only prudent for the government to use every precaution to prevent a repetition of the troubles of last year. The mounted police should be strengthened and detachments of troops posted in the disaffected districts. This with the removal of the greater number of the agents at present in charge of the Indian reserves in the far west will have a salutary effect. The removal of the unpeppable Dewdney would tend more than anything else to allay the suspicions which naturally lurk in the mind of the poor aborigines of the new territories.

It is announced that the construction of the line of railway from Winnipeg to Hudson Bay will be commenced in the early spring. This is welcome news as no undertaking is better calculated to develop the Northwest and advance its material progress. It is well that the business men who have the matter in hand are displaying such nerve and pluck in forwarding the work. They have met with much opposition from the Canadian Pacific Railway Company while exploring expeditions have been sent out to bring in adverse reports concerning the navigation of Hudson Bay. Relying, however, on the information furnished from other sources the new company have determined to proceed with their important work and in a few years the distance between Winnipeg and Liverpool will be very materially reduced. The produce of the Northwestern states of the Union and our Canadian territories will be enhanced in value by the desirable competition which will be afforded and the expenses and inconvenience to incoming immigrants will be greatly lessened. Winnipeg and St. Paul will be especially benefited and become the great distributing centres of the vast west.

INTERESTING LETTER.

Carberry, Man., Feb. 5th, 1886.

To the Editor of the Tribune.

Dear Sir, I arrived here on 26th Jan. after many delays caused by belated trains, though, fortunately, our train met with no mishaps except one little collision which did no harm to speak of. I got on the C. P. R. at Norwood on Saturday (23rd) at noon and arrived in Winnipeg at seven on Wednesday evening following being 35 hours late. We left Carlton Place 7:30 Saturday evening, and made good time till Sunday night about 10 o'clock, when we had arrived at a station called Otter 546 miles west of Carlton. We were obliged to stop there all night on account of an engine a few miles ahead of us having broken down. We started again on Monday morning about 8 o'clock and went a few miles to Mayrre where we stopped for breakfast which the C. P. R. Co. supplied free of charge. A splendid breakfast it was. I must say I began to think a little better of the C. P. R. Co. after that. We only went 70 miles on Monday when we had to stop again on account of two engines and snow ploughs having run off the track ahead of us. On Monday evening we had supper at the Co's expense, and again the C. P. R. went up my estimation. This supper was supplied out of stores of provisions which are carried on all through trains for special occasions like this, when trains are delayed at a long distance from dining stations. In one way we were benefited by being delayed, as on this account we went over a part of the line containing the finest scenery in day light, which we would not have done had the train been on time. This was along the north shore of Lake Superior, and I must say it was indeed grand. Any description of mine cannot begin to give an idea of the grandeur and sublimity of some of the landscapes, or rather "rockscapes" which we passed. In some places the track is for miles hemmed out of solid rock on the shores of the Lake, where on one side of the train, about 40 or 50 feet below us, lie the blue waters of Lake Superior, and on the other side mountains of rock towered hundreds of feet above us. We also passed through several tunnels hewn out of the solid rock. There are a great many curves on that part of the line, some of which were such, that looking out of the windows we could see the track a short distance ahead of us, running almost in the opposite direction to which the train was then going, and, indeed, sometimes we were at a loss to know whether the track which we saw out of the window was what we had passed over or whether we had yet to pass over it. I was told that one curve went seven miles around to get one mile across, the reason being that the lake there was 300 feet deep, so that it was impossible to bridge it. Well, I said, we arrived in Winnipeg on Wednesday evening. I stopped there all day Thursday to see the sights, &c., of the city. Winnipeg is a very fine city and contains some very nice business blocks and public buildings—the post-office and the city hall amongst the best. I was especially struck by the structures. The buildings along Main-st. are all or nearly all of brick and look very substantial. I was especially struck on seeing the great width of Main-st. which is 100 feet wide. At first one does not feel as if he were on a main street, because people passing on the other side seem to be a long distance away as compared with Toronto and other cities in Ontario. The weather has been very cold almost ever since I started here. I was told that at Mattawa on Saturday (23rd) evening the thermometer registered 40° below zero. In Winnipeg I was told by several parties, who seemed to live what they said, that the thermometer before I was there, since I have been in Carberry the weather has also been very cold, as for instance, on 1st and 2nd Feb.,

in the morning we had it 30° below, and on 3rd Feb. it was down to 45° below. The weather is very clear and fine, and about noon the thermometer gets up to about 10° below zero in the day. Still it does not seem to feel nearly as cold even at the lowest as ten or twelve below in the east. Notwithstanding it is just as cold as I care to see it, and I do not care to go outside any more than necessary.

Carberry is a lively little place with about 200 of a population. It is 105 miles from Winnipeg, and is situated in about the best farming section of Manitoba. The country around is as level as a floor for miles with scarcely any timber. The nearest woodland, I am told, is about nine miles away, and it can be seen quite distinctly from almost any part of the village. There is scarcely any snow here, not nearly as much as there was in Deseronto when I left. I am told that it never rains or scarcely ever thaws during the winter months. A stranger coming here from the east is always struck by the entire absence of fences. I think that there is scarcely a fence to be seen in Carberry. There are two good hotels here but neither of them have license. Both of them are crowded with boarders nearly all the year round. Board averages from $4 to $4.50 per week. It costs a little more to live here than it does in Ontario, as everything is sold at a slight advance on Ontario prices. Canadian silver is very scarce, American silver money being used almost altogether. Copper coins are of no use at all in this country except to buy postage stamps. There are two churches in the village—Methodist and Presbyterian—both of which draw large congregations. I have got along splendidly since I came here, and think I will like the place well after it gets a little warmer weather. The mill where I work is scarcely as large as the Deseronto Flour Mill, but we grind about 150 barrels per 24 hours. The mill is entirely new having just been started a short time before I arrived here. There are nine sets of rolls and three runs of stones with other necessary machinery, and from what I can learn at present it seem to be giving good and ample satisfaction.

But I must close as I am afraid I have already tired you in the perusal of this long letter, but as you were kind enough to ask me to write, I thought I would give you a description of my trip and a little about the country and village where I have now taken up my abode.

Yours respectfully,
A. E. BANYARD.

BROKEN DOWN. It is a sad but unavoidable reflection that thousands of men, who should be the bone and sinew of the country, pillars of society, of the church and of the state, are broken down both physically and mentally before they have reached the zenith of their usefulness. Early indiscretions, the result of ignorance and folly; over-exertion of mind and body, induced by inordinate ambition, dissipation and exposure; are continually working the ruin of thousands, whose ability energy and integrity the world needs to preserve the equilibrium of civilization. Some fall before they have yet entered the arena of active life, while many more, enervated by the effects of youthful folly, after a few years of arduous labor find themselves incompetent for the arduous duties of business and professional life, and are forced to retire ignominiously from the field of action to meet an untimely death or to drag out a weary and unsatisfactory existence, incapacitated for both the duties and enjoyments of life.

PROGRESS. We are successful because we are progressive. In our Association are nineteen specialists, each of whom is an expert, and each of whom at our organization was acquainted with remedies and methods of which he had learned in practical work, and which were known to him only. Combined, these remedies and methods immediately placed us far in advance of any single physician, and now we have also the knowledge acquired in eight years' united study and the treatment during that time of over 100,000 cases.

WE WANT every Man, Woman and Child who suffers from any obscure,
lingering or chronic ailment or deformity to call on the Surgeons or write to headquarters, opinion and advice in either case is entirely free.

WHAT MAKES A PLEASANT HOME.

The general idea is that a neat and desirable home is within the reach of all persons of ample means. On the contrary a pleasant home is within the reach of all classes, unless it may be in cases of extreme poverty. It does not require a great outlay for superfluities, but the working-man by the expenditure of a little strength and trouble by himself and family, can do much in beautifying the home and removing that barrenness which gives so many houses an uninviting appearance. By perseverance in cultivating the taste for any one thing we acquire a habit in a short time which soon makes it a pleasure for us. This is especially the case with home improvement. When pride once begins to take root in that direction all superfluous expenditures centre there. You forego other trivial pleasures to advance this object, and what you have gained not only affords present happiness, but is a permanent benefit by increasing the value of the property. What more attractive than neatly kept grounds with a few flowers to enliven the scene about a neatly painted cottage, for which the female members of the family have furnished many simple and tasteful decorations. Here we have a home neat and attractive, and rendered so without the aid of anything except what female ingenuity has produced in the household adornments and in articles of the property.

Our immediate surroundings have great influence in giving character to ourselves and moulding our feelings. A barren and cheerless house produces a corresponding life. These outside comforts promote inward ones, and it is more from the want of being impressed with the importance of this subject than from any other cause that we find so many neglected homes. The massive pile which wealth may erect may excite our admiration, but there is more real pleasure and satisfaction in viewing the neat and tasteful cottage which conveys to the passer by the idea of true comfort, and indicates, more plainly than expensive architecture could, the cultured taste of the inmates. Your well kept home exerts a desirable influence upon your neighbor. We judge of things by comparison. His dilapidated structure and surroundings cause a blush to rise to the cheek when viewed to such a great disadvantage. You thus encourage a taste for improvement, which extends until the village becomes pretty much infected with the idea for better things.

If you have children you have a greater interest in making your home a pleasant one. That spot where all their pleasures should be dearest to them, and in making it so, no sacrifice should be considered too great in keeping them thus early from the temptations of the outside world, that in after life they may treasure up such pleasant recollections of the happy and lovely home of their childhood.

By cultivating this taste for an attractive home you also foster and promote a cultured element in your character. It obligates that courteous which contact with common objects creates. The beautiful in art or nature sheds a ripening influence over us. We admit this fact where it exists in a higher degree, and its effect is proportionately as great in the lower as well. A community has it in its power to raise itself by all the help which such circumstances may create.

It is the beauty of each home which makes the village attractive. A pretty place can be had only by each inhabitant lending his aid to that effect. Towns have a reputation in the same way that each person has a character. Each individual member is identified with the place of his residence; complimentary allusions create a feeling of pride, and the opposite, of mortification. If you wish your village to sustain the former character, and its effect is proportionately as great in the lower as well. A community has it in its power to raise itself by all the help which such circumstances may create.

If your home is the property of another, that is no reason why you should not try to improve it. A tenant who protects the owner's property is always wanted. The dilapidation which comes from neglect is speedily noticed. The far seeing landlord is ever ready to encourage taste and care in his tenant, knowing that by the exercise of these the value of his property is increased.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
Mrs. Meagher is on a visit to her brother the Rev. Father Mackey.
Mr. & Mrs. McKinney have been visiting their relatives in Haverford.
Miss Julia Hanley was visiting her friends at Maryville last week.

Mr. Daniel McCrear has been banking gravel on the 6th con. for next summer.
Mr. Daniel O'Hara and family, of Kingsford, have been visiting at Mr. Patrick Cullane's.

Mr. Edward McGinn has been buying barley since last fall at Maryville, closed up his business there last week.
Messrs. Whims and Foley have their lumber on the ground, and have commenced work on the new gables in the church.

The late thaw has destroyed our good sleighing, but with cold weather and more of the beautiful we may have plenty of sleighing yet.

Mr. Dominick Tighe, who was in Kingston under the care of Dr. Sullivan has returned home. He was very poorly last week, but is, we are glad to learn better.

The singing of the choir last Sunday was remarkably good. The rendering of the hymn, "Nearer my God to Thee" and the solo singing of Mrs. Brennan were very good.

Mr. Thomas Cullen, of Bachelors Walk, intends erecting a handsome residence on his property on the 5th con. in the spring. Mr. Michael Lally we understand will have the contract.

Mr. Patrick Walsh, who is now residing at Phys. Clallum County, Washington Territory, is we are glad to learn doing well. He likes the country and is a very prosperous rancher. We thank Mr. Walsh for Seattle papers duly received.

Mr. Michael Lally is at present engaged erecting new buildings for Mr. J. C. Hanley. Mr. Lally is one of our eligible and enterprising young men. He is well informed, in want of a wife, and we beg to assure our young friend that he can easily supply the defect, as we have a number of a score of attractive young ladies, who will only be too glad to unite.

Professor Denys' Grand Concert will take place in Hanley Hall, on Friday 29th inst. The Professor has secured the assistance of the following ladies: Miss Sarah McGinn, Miss Mary Hanley, Miss Kate Sullivan and Miss Maggie Sullivan.

The worthy bachelors on the 7th con. had better look out. We are glad to learn that more than one is contemplating a dive into the matrimonial market. There is a watchful word of dog belonging to one of our well known sporting men to be seen around the corners; better be on their guard, as the white dog is as watchful as an Indian.

The summer kitchen and woodshed attached to the residence of Mr. Richard Walsh, of the 7th con. were destroyed by fire last week. The house was in imminent danger, but by great exertion was saved.

Mr. Walsh had three quarters of beef, his pork and several bags of flour in the shed all of which were lost. Loss about $100. No insurance. The fire is supposed to have arisen from hot ashes.

SOLMESVILLE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
Miss Ida Brown and Miss Agnes Hinchey, of Belleville, who have been visiting friends at Mr. Rathbun's have returned home. Two of our young men who sport black moustaches regret their absence.

Parties have been of late quite the rage in this vicinity. A large number of friends visited Mr. & Mrs. Henry Rathbun on the other evening. Thanks to their kind hospitality and the natural jollity of the crowd a very pleasant evening was passed. Some played various games while others tripped the "light fantastic" until the "wee sma' hours."

On Tuesday night a party called on Mr. & Mrs. Edgar Lambert and though they too were somewhat surprised "Ed" said "Go ahead boys and do as ye please" and I assure you they did it. "All danced" was the password the worthy host being as boyish as any. After tea games and other amusements followed and we think all enjoyed themselves immensely as they kept it up until a very late hour. "Ed" perhaps will call again.

MACDONALD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
A grand thaw last week.
Miss Carlos, of Nanapan, is the guest of Mrs. John Bartlett.

Miss Blanche Clark has come to reside in Belleville. We all miss her smiling face.

On account of rainy weather and bad roads there were no services in the Church last Sunday.

Mr. John Spencer, I regret to state, has removed to Hay Bay. We all wish him success in his new home.

The mails have been watched closely of late and some of the boys were rewarded by receiving some good news of themselves.

One day last week Mr. Erets, of Hawley, and Miss Humberly, daughter of Samuel Hambley, Esq., of Vancouver, were joined together in holy matrimony. On the same day Mr. Wesley Howell, formerly of Deseronto, was married to Miss Day, of Nanapan. We wish them all the best and a happy one.

By all appearances we will soon lose more of our young folk, as a gentleman from Hay Bay visits this district about twice a week. Look out boys!

LONSDALE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
Proper W. Randall and H.W. Randall with their mother Mrs. Wm. P. Randall left here on Tuesday for Prince Edward County to visit friends.

Our young ladies are getting so very shy about marrying not even their nearest friends can know when the happy event takes place. According to what we could hear a reliable source tells us that our young lady school teachers, Miss Ann McCulloch, daughter of Mr. Wm. McCulloch 4th con., told her parents she would soon be visiting a widowed friend near Tanworth where she has been teaching for about a week. No objections being made she packed her trunk and was taken to Nanapan and went to Tanworth to her friends. Her father on hearing several days after his daughter had returned to Nanapan went for her expecting she would want to return, and was told she had married and left for her new home. On returning home he received a letter wishing her goods forwarded to her as she was married and keeping house in her new home. It is supposed that the courtship had been going by letter for a long time, and the happy man being an entire stranger to his friends it is thought that he wished them to hear she had quit the profession of school teaching and gone into partnership for life with a gentleman by the name of Mr. McCarra, of Brighton. We wish them a long and happy partnership with no trouble but little ones.

The work on our bridge referred to last week is now completed, which is a good substantial job, shortening the bridge one half and will save a large amount of money in future years. Much credit is due to our Reeve, Deputy Reeve and all others concerned in the improvement of the bridge. By Mr. Frank West, the Deputy Reeve, who in order to hurry up the work and have it done, I took the time and worked till the job was finished. The remainder of the bridge is soon to be iron.

On Monday night last a house belonging to Mr. David Walsh, seventh con., used as a school house, was destroyed by fire. The house was a fine one, and was in good condition in winter, caught fire from a box containing ashes and was destroyed with two or three barrels of pork, three quarters of beef, a quantity of flour, &c. By the united efforts of Mr. D. McCarra and his men who are boarding there and banking gravel for the bridge, the dwelling was saved, which was only a few feet from the building burned.

SHANNONVILLE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)
Miss Nettie Clark is again at home after an absence of two weeks in Nanapan.

Miss Annie Lazier has returned home having spent a few weeks very pleasantly in Cobourg.

Mr. Fenwick's Mill, at Milltown, was broken up last Saturday night and a quantity of flour taken away.

Mrs. Dr. McLaren is at present visiting her sister, Mrs. R. Dickson, of Toronto, and Miss Paterson, of Deseronto, was the guest of Miss Mary McLaren for a few days last week.

We have a very obliging young man in our vicinity who takes it upon himself to make it entertaining for young ladies, who may happen to favor Shannonville with their presence.

The residents of our village were aroused from their quiet slumbers on Saturday night last by the cry of fire. It was discovered that the store owned by Mr. J. L. Green, occupied by Mr. J. S. Kerr was in a blaze, and in a short time the store together with the greater part of its contents was entirely consumed. No insurance on building, stock partially covered by insurance. The cause of the fire is unknown, but it is supposed to have originated through a defective chimney.

The work of rebuilding the store will be commenced at once, and Mr. Kerr's friends are very anxious that he should resume business again in this place.

On Friday evening last a surprise party was given to the residents of the village of Deseronto. The work of rebuilding the store will be commenced at once, and Mr. Kerr's friends are very anxious that he should resume business again in this place.

The Deseronto Council we learn have purchased some four or five hundred yards of gravel from Mr. Joseph Maracle of the reserve; many are engaged drawing the gravel.

Mr. Daniel Schrimshaw, of the Reserve, is buying all kinds of grain and stock at McCulloch's store house; it is much convenient for the surrounding farmers to have their grain sold at a short distance. Mr. Schrimshaw is equal with the highest market and gives fair weight.

The Tribune

FRIDAY, FEB. 26, 1886.

The Report of the Commissioner of Public Works is to hand. From it we learn that the total expenditure in this department for the year 1885 was $185,584.37. To the various items little or no exception can be taken unless it be to that relating to Government House. On the useless structure $9,008.38 was expended for fuel, gas, water, repairs and furniture. Since 1867 it has cost the province $100,188.92. We are pleased to see that a motion has been introduced in the legislature favouring the abolition of the Government House. The Lieutenant-Governor, who is too well paid, should find his own residence. Such is the practice in the United States where governors have real powers and duties to exercise, and where they are content with half the salaries paid in the Dominion. Electors, as well as angels, should keep over the large expenditures involved by governor generals and governors who at the expense of the poor ratepayer attempt to ape the pomp and circumstance of royalty.

THE Sixteenth Annual Report of the Inspector of Prisons and Public Charities upon the House of Refuge and Orphan and Magdalen Asylums of Ontario is of a very interesting character. There are in the province 19 houses of refuge which during the year ending Sept. 30th 1885, sheltered 1,837 persons, 885 males and 974 females. There are 24 orphan asylums, in which were received 3,296 inmates 1,826 males and 1,470 females. There are 5 Magdalen asylums which received 437 women and 18 children. To these various charities the Ontario government granted $45,104, while from other sources there was received $171,630.08 a most creditable exhibit for the people of the province. The only one of these institutions in this district is the House for the Friendless in Belleville which during the year had 19 persons in residence. It received the following aid:—from Ontario Govt., $283.85; Belleville, $300; inmates, $228, and donations $237. New and commodious buildings are in course of erection and THE TRIBUNE would appeal to all its readers to extend a helping hand to this institution.

From the Eighteenth Annual Report of the Inspector of Prisons, &c., upon the Common Gaols, Prisons and Reformatories of Ontario, we gather a few facts for our readers. The number of commitments for the year ending September 30th, 1885, were 11,428, a decrease of 655 on the preceding year. Of these 193 were to Belleville gaol, 167 males and 26 females, an increase of 15. As compared with 1884, there is a large decrease in the number of commitments for murder and manslaughter, but an increase for cases of rape. There is a satisfactory decrease of 90 per cent. of commitments for drunkenness. To Belleville there were sent 50 for drunkenness against 45 the previous year. The total gaol expenditure for the year was $129,747.86. The average cost per day of each person is 20-10 cents; in Belleville, however, it is 10-21 cents, the lowest rate with the exception of Sandwich which is 9-30 cts. Passing from the gaols to the Central Prison, we find that during the year there were 761 commitments to this institution, 221 married, 540 single, 144 temporary, 617 interdicted. The total expenditure was $55,677, at an average daily cost of 45 cents for each prisoner. In the Mercer Female Reformatory the commitments during the year were 142; expenditure $27,540.98. The number of boys admitted to the Boys' Reformatory at Penetanguishene was 51, the total number in residence during the year being 295, a large decrease. The expenditure was $40,093, or $169.17 for each inmate.

BROKEN DOWN. It is a sad but unavoidable reflection that thousands of men, who should be the bone and sinew of the country, pillars of society, of the church and of the state, are broken down both physically and mentally before they have reached the zenith of their usefulness.

Early indiscretions, the result of ignorance and folly; over-exertion of mind and body, induced by inordinate ambition; dissipation and exposure; are continually working the ruin of thousands, whose ability energy and integrity the world needs to preserve the equilibrium of civilization.

Some fall before they have yet entered the arena of active life, while many more, enervated by the effects of youthful folly, after a few years of ambitious labor find themselves incompetent for the arduous duties of business and professional life, and are forced to retire ignominiously from the field of action to meet an untimely death or to drag out a weary and unsatisfactory existence, incapacitated for both the duties and enjoyments of life.

PROGRESS. We are successful because we are progressive. In our Association are nineteen specialists, each of whom is an expert, and each of whom at our organization was acquainted with remedies and methods of which he had learned in practical work, and which were known to him only. Combined, these remedies and methods immediately placed us far in advance of any single physician, and now we have also the knowledge acquired in eight years united study and the treatment during that time of over 100,000 cases.

Is it, then, a wonder that we cure where others fail.

WE WANT every Man, Woman and Child who suffers from any obscure,

lingering or chronic ailment or deformity to call on the Surgeons or write to headquarters, opinion and advice in either case is entirely free.

The Tailoring Department is now replete with the most fashionable and varied makes of goods that can be obtained in the European and Continental Markets, and we wish to impress upon our friends, that, as the best of Trimmings only are used in the making up of Garments, we can guarantee a style and finish which will stand comparison with any House in the Trade. Mr. Stoddart, who is already well known for his superiority in making a good stylish fit, is in charge of this Department, and will be pleased to have an opportunity of exhibiting these special goods to his friends, and quote prices for same.

BOOTS AND SHOES.

In this Department the BIG STORE still maintain their well known reputation for keeping only the best quality and the most fashionable Goods manufactured, their facilities for buying, and the immense quantity of Boots & Shoes disposed of, enable them to offer at more advantageous prices than can be done by other competitors who profess to sell the same class of Boots. Do not be induced to purchase inferior Goods simply because the price is low; such articles are dear at any cost. The Big Store do not impose upon their customers treachery goods, but sell only first-class articles, and this principle has won for them their well earned reputation which is so generally known and appreciated by their Customers and the Public.

THE BIG STORE is the head rendezvous for Groceries and Provisions of Sterling Quality and finest brands. CORRESPONDENCE.

SOPHIABURGH.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mr. Walter Robin, who has been very bad with erysipelas for a long time, is slowly recovering.

Mr. W. Boulter, of the conning factory, Pictou, intending building a branch factory on his farm this coming spring.

I understand that Miss Maggie Moore, of Deseronto, is still very low and very little hopes are entertained of her recovery.

Old Mrs. Vanmeer in her 76th year, has, after a long and painful illness gone to her reward. She was laid in the Pictou burying ground on the 8th inst., after a very impressive sermon by the Rev. J. C. Ash.

There are still lots of private oyster suppers, &c. There was an oyster supper and picked company at Mr. Samuel Gardner's, a short time ago, and a few nights after another picked company at Mr. Geo. McQuade's, and so goes.

The preparations for building throughout the Township are apparent in almost every direction. It really looks as though Sophsburgh farmers were going ahead very fast. We notice some very fine brick residences in the course of construction.

A. Davis, A. H. Brown, J. T. Way and G. Wrightmeyer are all building fine brick residences.

I see the people of Deseronto are in an awful state of excitement, and on enquiring the cause I find some Gazette correspondent signed "Sam. Scott" has committed the awful crime of calling this place by its original name—"Sodoma." Now, I can't say any great harm in calling a place when it has been so called by our fathers and grandfathers for such a long time, but the present generation of Sodomites are putting on airs. They seem to think it is a disgrace to have such a name and to be told that their village is degenerating. It once was prosperous and a lively business place, now it is almost amongst the ruins of the past, and the Sodomites are very proud of what they have left, and don't want to hear anything of bygone days when they were going for goods to the city.

Mr. Scott and are going to ride him on a hobby rail, tar and feather him, and I don't know all they will do to him. Poor fellow! I pity him.

The Oyster Supper and grand literary and musical entertainment given by the ladies of the Presbyterian Congregation, Deseronto, was the place at which for some time came off last week, and if we say it was a magnificent affair and one of the best entertainments of the season, we are only expressing what we heard a great many others say of it. Of course those who know the ladies connected with the congregation were not at all surprised, for when they take hold of anything there is no half measures, but everything is as it should be. There was only one or two who were not musical department, and that was the presence of Mrs. W. T. Ross, of Pictou, who, owing to illness, was unable to be present. Her absence was the place at which she is a great favorite with the people here, not but that she had plenty of music and good at that. Mr. London, of Pictou, was here, and his violin playing was very pleasing. Owing to the very bad state of the roads and extreme cold weather, the attendance was not as large as it would have been otherwise, still, there was a fair turn out.

LONSDALE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Report says that Mr. Patrick Nash has sold his hotel in this place to Mr. Denis Nealon, the present occupant, for $1,000.

Mr. John Scamthorn has been a long time confined to his home, and is now slowly recovering, but with but little if any hope of recovery.

Mr. Robt. Winters is rushing business, he is determined to give his customers the best of stock and work. They know it and continue to renew their orders for boots and shoes.

Our boys have this forenoon, March 22nd, constructed a toboggan slide reaching from Rock street down the hill and half way across the mill race, and the slide being great sport this afternoon and say it is one of the best slides which cost a large amount of money. This cost twenty-five cents and one hour's work.

Any amount of snow—stormy every day making new snow—very little travel except to our great mill and one which are well patronized, loads of grain plowing through the snow to the mill, the teamsters doing their trading at the store and getting necessary work done with the mechanics while the teams are resting. People have learned Lonsdale is the place where they can get every thing they need as satisfactorily.

Mr. Jas. McCullough has taken the advantage of the stormy weather with all the available help he could muster in taking stock and is now opening out his spring stock comprising all articles in dry goods of new styles, groceries of all kinds, a complete medicine, stationery, and all articles kept in a country store, too numerous to mention, which he offers at the lowest price; he is bound to push business and give satisfaction.

Mrs. Joseph Whitman from Shakespeare, is spending the winter visiting at Lonsdale and her many friends in these parts and is now with her mother Mrs. John Bruin, visiting at Mr. Martin's at Deseronto. Mr. Bruin is very lonely, but is willing to put up with the inconvenience in order to give Mrs. Bruin a good time and give Mrs. Bruin a rest from her family toils at home hoping it will improve her health and renew her age.

Miss Sarah McGurn is visiting her friends here.

Miss Coulton, of Belleville, is visiting friends here.

Miss Kate O'Leary and her niece are visiting at Mr. William McCullough's, 4th con.

The weather has been very stormy with plenty of snow, and some of the roads are badly drifted.

Prof. Deny's grand concert takes place this evening. The Prof. has spared no pains to afford a great musical treat and we have no doubt but that there will be a large and appreciative audience present. With the outside talent in addition to our local artists the entertainment promises to be a most successful affair.

The Misses Barry, of Hastings, are on a visit with their sister, Mrs. Daniel McAlley, of the 2nd con.

Mr. Maurice Collins, brother-in-law of Mr. William McCullough, 4th con., has left for Pictou.

Miss Mary Gallagher has left for Campbellton on a visit to her brother, Mr. Arthur Gallagher.

We regret to be called on this week to announce the death of Mr. Denis Herald one of our oldest and most respected citizens, who died on the 16th inst. after a long and painful illness. Mr. Herald was a native of Donegal, Ireland, but had lived in Canada for 30 years and was born in 1815 the year of the memorable battle of Waterloo. Mr. Herald was buried in St. Charles Cemetery, and a large number of friends followed his remains to their last resting place.

TYENDINAGA RESERVE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Ask for a ride home, ladies, and you shall get it.

Mr. Stephen Maracle returned home on Friday from the lumber woods.

Chief Chapman Green has made an addition of 300 yards to his gravel job with the Rathbun Company.

Miss Kahonwahyeh, who is sorry to learn, is seriously afflicted with inflammatory rheumatism.

Dr. Akwonakak made some liver complaints on our midst; it is hoped he will come again soon.

Rev. Mr. Kahonwahyeh, accompanied by his daughter, Mrs. Farnsworth, made a business trip to Belleville on Monday last. While on his tour he made necessary arrangements with Mr. Robert Shannonville, for the use of his hall on Thursday, March 4th, which night is fixed to exhibit the grand dramatic play "Lady Lyone," for the benefit of the schools on the Reserve.

It will be performed by the Deseronto Dramatic Association, and they may feel assured all the assistance needed for the preparation will be willingly given.

Miss Lottie Jackson, of Napanee, is the guest of our sister Mrs. H. Brown.

The young people here spent a very pleasant time on Thursday evening last with their old friend Miss Maggie Sager at the residence of Mr. P. Williams.

The small-pox quarantine at Eagle Hall has been removed and Messrs. L. Robin and H. Brown were stationed there as sanitary police have returned to their homes.

Mr. J. S. Kerr has obtained a room from Mr. J. M. Macdonald, and during the week has been selling of his damaged goods at a very low figure, some articles below cost; that he was successful in his sale was quite evident by the large packages being continually carried off by his old customers. Having disposed of his damaged goods he has returned to his quiet groove, and we learn he is also selling at reasonably low prices. We are pleased to know that Jimmie will open out a new stock at no distant day.

DEMORESTVILLE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

On the Thursday evening following (18th) there was a splendid entertainment given in the hall of the Church, Northport. A first-rate programme was provided for the evening, ably assisted by the Glee Club, of Deseronto. This club won golden opinions among the guests, and the program among us would be heartily greeted at any future time. Proceeds of entertainment $60.

The Presbyterian Concert and Oyster supper held at the Town Hall on the 16th inst. was an encouraging success, notwithstanding unfavorable weather. There was a similar match of the club and more, whose names had been announced—notably among the vocalists, Mrs. Ross, of Pictou, and among the speakers, Rev. K. J. Craig, of Deseronto. That with some very fine talent, assisted by Mr. London, manager of Standard Bank, of Pictou, and with a magnificent supper on the tables the entertainment was first-class.

Hear the mellow wedding bells, Golden bells!

What a world of happiness their harmony foretells!

There was a very pleasant family gathering at Mr. Hiram Moran's, on Big Island, on Wednesday the 17th inst., to witness the celebration of marriage between his mother, Mrs. Almerin Moran and Mr. Nathaniel Denill, of Sophiasburgh. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. C. Ash.

On their departure for Belleville old shoes and rice were showered upon them by a host of well-wishers and friends. Seldom has a wedding party among our staid and more advanced citizens commended itself so heartily to the intelligent approval of the whole community.
